HSE, FCS & HS Fall Workshops

HUMAN SERVICES AND EDUCATION, FAMILY AND CONSUMER SCIENCES
& HEALTH SCIENCE FALL WORKSHOPS

Over the past three years NDE has held both Human Science and Education (Family and Consumer Science) and Health Science fall workshops, on separate dates. Health Science has struggled with attendance numbers and as a result last year's Health Science fall workshops were cancelled. This is not a reflection of non-interest by Health Science teachers but taking into consideration strained budgets and the inconvenience of cancellations. Until Health Sciences grows to the point that as a curriculum area can carry a full Fall Workshop date, the dates will need to be combined.

Last year's Fall Workshop participants learned about the new middle-level and secondary-level course standards for Human Science and Education (FCS) and Health Sciences. Participants completed a crosswalk of local course descriptions to state standards. July 22-24, 2013 writers will be completing the standard writing process. This year's Fall Workshop will focus on the implementation of these new course standards within the NDE programs of study.

All post-secondary teachers, as well as pre-service students and student teachers are encouraged to attend!

In order to plan for resources and meals, register online at www.education.ne.gov/nce/ConferencesWorkshops.html by September 17, 2013. The workshops are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and facilitated by Carol Ringenberg and Jan Brandt of the Nebraska Department of Education.
